

KEEP THE NO-CALL LISTS

I believe that we should keep Wisconsin's No-Call Lists. I do not think that it is right for companies to be able to call your cell phones and house phones any time they want. A lot of the companies that call are only out to get your money, or to scam. MY ARGUMENT: Yes most people know what they are doing, yet still a lot of people are willing to take a risk and all they get is conned. These callers are using up cell phone users minutes, even if the person hangs up the phone you still get charged at least a minute. They use personal house numbers now, so you could think it's your buddy and pick up the phone, start talking. Then all the sudden this stranger knows almost everything about you. How about the start your own business from home, which is completely free to read the stories they send you, or they call you and give you a bunch of lines. They give you no information except pay around $200.00 and you could do it to... what is "it" by the way because they sound like they are going to teach you something specific yet they don't even tell you if they are going to do that. People don't even know what they are paying for, they are just signing a check saying I will agree to purchase whatever that guy who called me was talking about. 2 Months later an envelope might come in the mail containing a CD or a paperback book. and the person is out $200.00. They make it sound so promising, and it is only a huge let down for most people. if they sucker just 10 people they have $2,000.00 and we all know that this stuff sounds tempting. You have people out there who will just try it to see if they can trust the company I know I have met more than 10 people in my life who are risk takers.

Anyways I suppose I will stop this argument. I just don't think it should be legal for "them" to call or mail things. I believe it is an invasion of privacy, conning, manipulative, and a whole lot of other things to.
